Comment

14. (SBU) Participants in the meeting saw this meeting as particularly productive and cooperative. The attendance level of Defense Chiefs was excellent. They agreed on pledges for the standby force on the first day of the meeting. In his closing remarks, General Obeng stressed the need for ECOWAS to have a positive influence in seeking peace in Sierra Leone, Liberia, and Cote d'Ivoire. Given the goodwill expressed at this meeting, Obeng saw the possibility of an "over-subscribed" standby-force. Funding and logistics for this force will be taken up at the November 22-23 donors conference in Abuja. The British official acknowledged to poloff that it was appropriate for protocol reasons that the request for forces to Darfur be routed via the AU. A representative from Mali approached him privately about contributing to a Darfur force. Dr. Charles Grimm, US Advisor for Defense and Security Affairs to ECOWAS, told Emboffs he was delighted with the outcome and atmospherics of the meeting, although he thought it unlikely ECOWAS would offer troops to Darfur, given the lack of available officer staff in member countries. We will forward a copy of the final meeting report to desk as soon as possible.
